THE REVIVAL SERVICES. ROONDAY MEETING AT THE IMPPODROME-INFLU-

ENCE OF THE REVIVAL IN THE CHURCHES. The slight rain yesterday morning appeared to keep many from the prayer-meeting at the Hippo me at neen, but nevertheless there was a fair attendance. While the people were coming in Thatcher led several hymns, as usual. At the regular hour Messre. Moody and Sankey came from the inner room and opened the services with the hymn, "Jesus Loves Me." The requests for prayer were read by the Rev. George H. Hepworth, including prayers for several of the Mission Churches, for Cornell University, and for the "Men of the New-York Clubs." The requests have become so numerous that they can only be read collectively, and responded to in a very general way, yet, as the Rev. Mr. Hastings said the other day, the prayer of one will go as far as the prayers of the songregation. There was a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Conklyn, and the 49th hymn was sung. Mr. Moody read part of the 12th chapter of Acts, ex plaining, as he read, in his familiar way, which makes a genial story out of every verse. It was of the deliverance of Peter from the prison where he slept between two soldiers and bound with chains. And the angel of the Lord same upon him, and a light shined in the prison, and he mote Peter on the side and raised him, saying, "Arise up quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands." if we had been going to do this thing," Mr. Moody said, "we would have crept in there in the dark and cosened the chains in all possible slience and slipped loosened the chains in an possible and walks in and out again. But God has a light, and walks in and the chains rattle off on the floor. And he saith unto him, cast thy garment about thee and follow me. And Peter went out, not wide awake enough to obey; that is what God wants. And as Peter knocked to obey; that is what God wants. And as Peter knocked cast thy garment about thee and follow me. And Peter went out, not wide awake yet, but wide awake enough to obey; that is what God wants. And as Peter knocked at the door of the gate a damsel came to hearken, named Rhoda. And when she knew Peter's voice she opened not the gate for gladness, but ran in and told how Peter stood before the gate. And they said to her. Thou art mad. The people would not believe their prayer was answered, but said, 'She don't know; that girl has gone clean mad.' Now if there is any one clean mad.' Now if there is any one clean mad.' Now if there is any one clean mad. The people who would not believe that Peter was knecking at the gate. There were more converts in the inquiry rooms yesterday than we could tak to personally, and many, even the very ones we pray for, are consta tily coming in. God only can tell how much good this movement may do, but I feel as if we had already done more than we expected. Let us give thanks to Him. Our prayers have indeed been answered.' One of the clergymen spoke of the work in the Ninth Ward, where meetings are constantly held for the multitudes who never go to church, and where many have been brought to Christ. A gentleman from Brooklyn was called from the audience to tell of the work in his church, there. "A small stream, but ever flowing," he said. The Rev, Dr. Kennard said that when Mr. Moody asked him if he had any good news, he fett like saying as Weeley did, "God is with us." The meeting closed with a iew moments of silent prayer and the Doxology.

While Mr. Moody exhorts, in his plain and general way, the people who flock to the revival meetings, the work there does not include all that is being done. That is the great center; but many other elergymen of the eity and throughout the country, feeling the linguise, carry the same spirit to their own churches, where it reaches the more critical classes, who rarely or never go to the lilpodorna. Mr. Moody met the young converts in the evening at Association Hall, and the meeting in the Madison Aven

THE BROOKLYN MYSTERY. EFFORTS OF THE POLICE TO FIND A CLEW-SCHNAUF-

FER HELD FOR FURTHER EXAMINATION. The case of Charles C. Schnauffer, suspected of murdering his wife and charged with forging her name to a deed of some property which he sold to Mr. O'Rorke, is still enveloped in mystery. The prisoner was taken before Justice Walsh yesterday, when a motion was made by his counsel, ex-Judge Troy, to admit him to bail on the charge of forgery, but as the police authorities are now investigating the cha ge against him of murder, the Justice remanded him for further examination. Upon application of his counsel, $1,589 which was taken from him when arrested was restored to him yesterday.

Police Inspector Waddy, who is acting under instructions from Superintendant Campbell, yesterday took charge of the detectives at Police Headquarters. Some were ordered to watch the premises at Broadway and Quincy-st., where Schnausfer's grocery store was burned down, and where two laborers have been engaged to dig up the entire premises to find out if the body of the missing woman has been buried there. So far they have not ing woman has been buried there. So far they have not discovered anything. Others were sent to New-York with a full description of Mrs. Schnauffer, and instructed to make a thorough search for her. Others were detailed to learn of Mrs. Schnauffer's record before her marriage and flud out all about her. Others were sent to find Beatty, who was a part owner with Schnauffer of a yacht at Canarsie. It was stated that Mrs. Schnauffer was last seen with her husband leaving Canarsie last August in his yacat for a pleasure excursion. She was not seen to return with him. Detective Corr yesterday had a long interview with George II. Cranz of No. 862 Broadway, Brooklyn, E. D., the Notary Public whose name was signed to the deed. The latter stated that he took two acknowledgments of Mr. Schnauffer on last Friday, one for $18,000 and the other $2,000. He gave a description of the woman who signed her name as Schnauffer's wife, which was entirely different from that of Mrs. Schnauffer, and it was shown by comparison with deeds signed previously by Schnaufby and the hist. two deeds is certainly a forgery. Schnauffer, it has been discovered, has been on familiar terms with a family in the Eastern District of Brooklyn, one of the members of which, and who corresponds with the description of the woman who represented herself to be his wife, has been missing since his arrest.

STRIKE OF JOURNEYMEN PRINTERS The reduction of wages of journeymen book and job printers which had been decided upon by a num her of employing firms went into effect in several estab lishments yesterday, and resulted in the strike of about 150 members of the Typographical Union. Of this number fifty were employed by John F. Trow & Co. at No. 209 East Twelfth st., and seventy in the job printing de-partment of The Eccaing Post, the remainder being in the employment of Hart & De Vinne, John Polhemus, and Douglas Taylor. These are the only establishments employing Union printers where the reduction has gone into effect, though a number of firms have signed the agreement to enforce the new schedule of rates. The foreman of John F. Trow & Co. informed a TRIBUNS reporter that Trow & Co. Informed a Tribuns reporter that he apprehended no difficulty in supplying the places of the strikers with non-union men and expected to have a full force at work in two or three days. Mr. Polhemus has it his employment 120 men, six of whom joined in the strike. He has been gradually supplianting the members of the Union with non-union men in anticipation of a reduction, and he filled the vacated places yesterday. At the other establishments which had joined in the agreement for a reduction no notice had been given to the employes and affairs remained unchanged. It is probable other firms will give notice of a reduction this week. A meeting of employers will be held to-day to discuss the situation.

QUEENS COUNTY SUPERVISORS. The Queens County Supervisors held an important meeting yesterday at Jamaica, Long Island, closing up the business of the year. The Special Committee on Poor-house Abuses made their report. They had examined 28 witnesses on the charges presented. The first charge, of waste and extravagance in the use of food on Barnum's Island, the Committee concluded was not maintained. While the food was good and abundant, the waste was very small. The second charge, that the in r house had been required to labor for the benefit of the keeper, they found trivial. The fourth charge, of gross immoralities, the Committee found to apply only to the girl Mary Pinkham, whom they found to be of weak intellect and bud character. One of the subordinates on the island was implicated with her, and the irregularities continued for some time, notwithstanding it was brought to the attention of the keeper. The Superintendents were also informed of the facts, but failed to take any action. The keeper. The Superintendents were also informed of the facts, but failed to take any action. The fifth charge was of a lack of harmany. Differences of opinion existed upon this, but it did not appear that any of the Superintendents had been actuated by unworthy motives. The committee believed that the contract with the physician for Barmun's Island was insufficient, as it did not properly define his duties. The report detailed with considerable minuteness the fees of various past Superintendents for the transportation of paupers, and sasted that the alleged overcharges amounted to about $40. Incidentally it was stated that the whole expenses of maintaining Barmun's Island and its appurtanences for the year was about $40,000, of which about one-half was for temperary relief and other outside expenses, and it was also stated that it did not appear to be the duty of the Superintendents to convey the paupers to the poor-house, but to send them, and to pay for the service. The Superintendents were accused of charging an admission fee of 50 cents for each pauper, and of auditing their own bills. The report was adopted.

A motion to adjourn unit some day next week was made, but a motion to adjourn size die was offered by a member frym one of the three easiern towns of the county—Hempstead, North Hempstead, and Oyster Bay. There were only six members of the Board present, Thomas S. Willetts of Flushing being absent, and the resolution of the Eastern men was, it is claimed, to compel an adjournment without day, in order to prevent a possible expression of opinion on the new county question at a subsequent meeting, and to forestall any action in reference to the completion of the new Courthouse. The discussion upon the adjournment was continued until a late hour, with a prospect that the session would be extended well into the might.

FUNERAL OF VICTOR BISHOP.

Victor Bishop, a well-known jeweler, for about 40 years a dealer in diamonds and precious stones in st on Friday. Mr. Bishop was born in Paris, France, in 1819, but when only 17 years old emigrated to this city, where he entered into business with his father. He sequired a fortune, and about 23 years ago married the widow of Capt. Lindsey Richardson, and sister of James Gordon Beanett. Two children were the result of this place of business after dinner yesterday, she appeared to naion, one of whom died in infancy, and the other, named Paul Bishop, died about four years ago. Mr. Hishop was a member of several Prench benevolent organizations, and was noted for his philanthropy. The funeral services were held yesterday at 1 p.m. at his residence, and the remains were interred in Greenwood Cemetery.

CITY MORTALITY FOR THE PAST YEAR. The report of the Board of Health for 1875 is in the course of preparation, but as the year does not end until May 1, 1876, it cannot be expected for many months. The number of deaths for 1875, from all causes, in this city, was 30,709, an increase of 1,982 over the number reported for 1874. Of this number, 10,908 were from symotic diseases, an increase of 1,106 as compared with the mortality from this cause for 1874. There were only 1,186 violent deaths reported for 1875, which was 62 less than during the previous year. There were 646 more deaths from diphtheria in 1875 than in 1874. There was also a considerable increase in the mortality of ch ldren under 5 years of age, as compared with that of 1874. Dr. Elisha Harris, the ex-Register of Vital Statis tics, states in his report that for three years diphtheria has been adding largely to the mortality among the children in this city. Until recently there has been only a small amount of this disease south of Fourteenth-st., and that has been chiefly confined to the Seventeenth Ward, the region of the old stuyvesant meadows. In this ward, in 1873, there were 2,302 fatal cases of diphtheria; in 1874, 2,193, and in 1875, 2,488, in a population of 101,094. In the Nineteenth Ward the number of deaths from diphtheria was 13,589 for the three past years in a population of 117,835. In the Twenty-first Ward, including the Murray Hill district, in a population of 58,833, in the past three years, there were 6,284 deaths from diphtheria. Cleanliness and disinfection of the premises are recommended, and the isolation of cases as much as possible. In 1875, 3,352 children under five years of age died from duarrhaeal diseases in this city. Dr. Harris alludes to the retreats and asylums outside the city that have been established to preserve the lives of children, and commends them as a humanne provision. Such fingrovements have been made in the tenements in this city that the poor of New-York enjoy greater advantages than in the great European cities, particularly Berlin, Munich, Breslau, or Liverpool. been adding largely to the mortality among the children

JERSEY CITY POLICE MANAGEMENT

It was reported that a meeting of the Police Commissioners of Jersey City was to have been held yes-terday to consider certain alleged frauds. No meeting was held, however, and it was stated that the report of irregularities had no foundation. One matter referred to was a contract with August Inguerson for the painting of street lamps. Police C mmsssioner Edmundson stated that Inguerson was paid $1.68 per lamp, while formerly $3 per lamp was paid. It is claimed that, as Inguerson's bills range from $377.52 to $492.48, the Commissioners have evaded the law which forbids them making contracts of ever $500 without advertising for bids. The Commissioners claim to have effected a reduction in the cost of lighting the streets equivalent to $16 for each lamp per year. Jacob Z Marinus, President of the Board, stated that the expenditures for hospital supplies, he thought, could be reduced. Milk, until lately, cost for such use, 10 cents per quart by the 100 quarts. The Commissioners finally concluded to purchase condensed milk, and continued to do so for a short time and then renewed their contract with the former dealer at a reduction of 2 cents per quart. Mr. Edmundson claimed that bread was furnished to the hospital at 5 cents per pound, while the Board of Aldermen paid 642 cents per pound for a poorer quality for the poor. ing of street lamps. In the examination of the Irwin case, continued yesterday before Judge Bixby, the only witness called was Samuel J. Harriot, who testified that the firm of Harriot & Noyes had never received any money on the check for $650,000, and that they had never furnished any collateral for it. His attention was called to a check for $500,000, dated Sept. 7, 1872, drawn by Vice-President Bellows on the National Bank of Commerce of New-York to the order of A. B. Stockwell. merce of New-York to the order of A. B. Stockwell. The check was indersed by "A. B. Stockwell, for deposit to the credit of Harriot & Noyes," and reindersed by "Harriot & Noyes," The witness testlied that the firm had never received any money on this cieck, which was a merc device on the part of the officiers of this Company to cover up the disposition which had already been made of the money.

Mr. Vanderpoel announced that he was nearly through with the testimony for the prosecution, only wishing to produce some additional evidence from the accounts of the San Francisco agency. As the books containing the accounts were not at hand, further examination was deferred until 11 o'clock to-duy.

ERIE INTERESTS.

The contracts between the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Delaware and Hudson, and Eric Companies, relative to the laying of the third rall on the Erie line, are now being drawn, and the arrangement will probably be consummated in a few days. The steel rails will be furnished by the Bethlehem and Cambria Works, and the payments will be made monthly, extending over a period of two years.

The Eric officers and clerks, in order to comply with the requirements of the court, are engaged in taking an inventory of all the property, real and personal, of the Eric Railread Company as it stood on May 26, 1875. The entire value of the property to be classified is about $100,000,000, including the lines owned by the Com-pany, the lines leased, and the lines operated.

In the suit of Samuel Lowden against the Board of Police and the city, Judge Van Vorst, in Supreme Court, Circuit, yesterday directed judgment for the plaintiff. The plaintiff's claim was for building a stable on a lot belonging to the city on Tompkins-st., near Stanton-st., for the use of the Street-cleaning Bureau. The delense was that there was no authority for such building, and no bids for the work. STEAM MOTORS ALLOWED IN BROOKLYN.

The question of using steam on Atlantic-ave. east of Flatbush-ave., in Brocklyn, was made the special order of business at the meeting of the Brooklyn Alder-men yesterday. Several additional petitions, presented by the different Aldermen, in favor of and against the mprovement, were first referred to the Railroad Committee. After some routine business had been transacted, the subject was brought up by Alderman Shapherd, who submitted a long minority report f om the Railroad Committee, opposing the use of steam on the thoroughfare named. He then spoke at some length in favor of the report, and urged its adoption.

Alderman Murtha said that he had no doubt that the majority of the members present would favor the majority report, but the speaker urged that if a surface road should be estab ished on Atlantic-ave, in less than five years sucu action would have to be rescinded. Lives would be jeopardised and a determined opposition would raise such a clawor for a depressed road that a change would have to be mide, and the city, having committed itself, would have to pay the expenses.

After some further discussion a vote was taken on a motion that the minerity report be substituted for the majority report. The motion was lest by a vote of 21 majority report. The motion was lest by a vote of 21 to 3.

Alderman Rowley then moved that the majority report be adopted. The motion was passed and the report was considered by sections. As finally adopted, the ordinance provides that the Common Council consents to permit the use of steam motors by the Aflantic Avenue Railroad Company for the operation of its railroad and thruction of cars thereon, upon and through Atlanticave, casterly from Flatbushave, to the dividing line between Brooklyn and New-Lots, or by any railroad company a quiring, by lease or otherwise, the right so to use said avenue, on the tracks already laid, and complying with any requirements of law arising in the promises, subject to such rules and regulations, as to rate of seved and public safety, as from time to time the Common Council may prescribe.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CATHOLIC UNION.

A convention of delegates from the several Young Men's Catholic Unions of this city was held at the rooms of the St. James Literary Union, at No. 49 Henry st., last evening, for the purpose of electing delegates to the National Convention to be held at Philadelphia. The following ten societies were represented: St. Mary's Literary Union, De La Salle Catholie Association, St. James, St. Rose of Lima, Young Men's of the Cathedral and St. Peter's Catholic Unions, St. Mich el's Lyconn, St. Aloysius of the Cathedral Transfiguration Society, Young Men's Sodality of the Transfiguration. The Young Men's Sodality of the Transfiguration. The meeting was called to order by the Rev. J. J. Kane. A committee was appelited to wait on other societies not members of the Union, and induce them to join, was carried. The Rev. Thomas J. Ducey of St. Michael's spoke at some length, calling attention to the fact that sithough there were 609,000 Catholies in New-York, they had no such building as that of the Young Men's Christian Association. He said that the great reed of the hour was a strong central association which should build a suitable hall and be a home for all young men. He said that he was appointed by the Cardinal to undertake this work.

CITY BURGLARS IN THE COUNTRY. It was stated yesterday that Gov. Bedle had offered a reward of $500 for the capture of the burglars who have been committing depredations near Fairview, N. J. Their latest exploit was entering the house James Crossley, on the Dallytown Road, gagging him and then stealing about $600, part of which was his mouth's pay, drawn on Saunday from his employers, Higgins & Co. of Forty-fifth-st. New-York. The robbers are supposed to be a New-York gang, and the police there have been given notice. They have committed several small burgiaries within the last week.

There was a faint movement of the pulse, but the physician who was called in was unable to restore animation.

EFFECTS OF A THUNDER-STORM.

The short but severe thunder-storm which passed over this city and vicinity about daylight yesterday morning seems to have done no damage in this city of greater consequence than awakening light sleepers and frightening timid ones. It was the first thunder shower of the season. In the suburbs its violence appears to have been greater and its effects more disas-trous. At Blue Point, Suffolk County, L. L. the house of Miner B. Russell was struck by rightning, knocking all the inmates insensible. One of them, a y ung man, had the inmates insensible. One of them, ay ang man, and his arm burned severely, and some of his clothes were torn from him. A daughter in the family had her foot burned. All are doing well. The house, however, was only slightly damaged. At Rochelle Park, on the Midland Kallway, in Bergen County, N. J., a large barn helonging to Mr. Wrizgater was struck by lightning and destroyed before any effort could be made to save the building or contents. A horse, two wagons, and all the stock were burned. The loss is estimated at $1,000, on which there is an insurance of only $200. which there is an insurance of only $200.

BUSINESS REVERSES.

DANIEL DREW'S FAILURE.

A NOT UNEXPECTED CLOSE TO A CAREER OF SPECULATION-CHARACTERISTIC OPERATIONS IN WALL-ST. - THE BANKRUPI'S SCHEDULE - LIA-BILITIES $1,074,131 83-ASSETS EXCEPT CHOSES IN ACTION VERY SMALL.

The bankruptcy of Daniel Drew was the subject of very general discussion in Wall-st. yesterday. Not that it was a surprise, for Mr. Drew had practically failed during the panic, and had made an assignment to William L. Scott of Eric, Pennsylvania. He had been known as an unsuccessful speculator during the latter years of his career in Wall-st., and within the past ten years he had done very little in stocks. At one time his bankruptcy would have created a sensation, but yesterday it was merely a subject for gossip or street talk, serving to point the moral that the longer a man remains in Wall-st. the less he is likely to take out of it. There was no sympathy expressed for Mr. Drew, his career as a speculator having been such as to harden the street against him. While Mr. Drew personally may be a bankrupt, it is not considered that he is likely to suffer from want, as his family are well supplied To review Mr. Drew's business life in detail would require columns. From the year when he went into business as a cattle drover until a time about ten years ago, he may be said to have been a successful man. It is his career in Wall-st, that has made him more conspicuous than anything else in his bistory, notwithstanding his connection with the magnificent Hudson River boats, and his munificent endowments of the Methodist Churc.es and Theological Seminaries, and schools. He has been thirty years in Wall-st., and at one time ruled the street. His business sagacity seemed to be somewhat impaired in his later years, for he went into operations in which he could not get a responsible following. Perhaps one of his severest losses was in his encounter with Jay Gould and Horace F. Cark, in North-Western, when his opponents "cornered" him, and took about $750,000 from him. He was interested in the Toledo and Wabash Railroad stock, was concerned in the construction of Canada Southern Railroad, was a large holder of Quicksilver Mining stock and of Canton (Land) Company stock. On all of these he was a heavy loser. He was the special partner of Kenyon Cox & Co., brokers, of Wall-st., and when that firm failed during the panic he lost heavily by it, was compelled to make an assignment, and ultimately to go into bankruptcy. When in the hight of his prosperity, the wealth of Mr.

Drew was estimated by some persons at $5,000,000, and by others at $15,000,000. One incident in his career may be recalled here, as it was the turning point in the financial history of the reorganized Eric Railway Company. In 1866, when Daniel Drew was Treasurer of Erie, the stock soid as high as 95. The Company needed money, and Mr. Drew lent it $3,500,000 and received as collateral security 28,000 shares of unissued stock and $3,000.0 0 of bonds convertible into stock. Being possessed of the facilities—questionable though they were—to guard against a "corner," he began to sell the stock " short" at the prevaling high prices. The people who bought the stock were Commodore Vanderbilt and his adherents. when the contracts matured, and the Vanderbilt "bulls" thought that they would have a very successful "con ner," Drew converted his bonds into stock, and threw upon the market 58,000 shares of stock which he then had in his hands. The price dropped from 95 to 40 amid the most furious excitement. Inquiry was made and the above facts were developed, the matter resulting in the famous Va. derbilt litigation, which drove Drev and his associates over to New-Jersey, where they remained until the ease was settled. Mr. Drew, however, has been proved to be very vulnerable. He was "cornered" in Harlem Raiiroad stock and in Michigan Southern Railroad, lost in Prairie du Chein, and suffered severely in North-Western and other lines of speculation. The transfer of Mr. Drew's property at the south-west corner of East Seventeenth-st. and Union-square was mentioned in The Trimune vest-rday. The deed transterring the house and lot at the corner, together with an adjacent lot on East Seventeenth-st., for a nominal consideration, to William H. Drew of the town of South east, Putnam County, N. Y., was dated Sept. 22, 1873, but was not recorded in the Register's office in this city until Saturday, March 11, 1876. This same property was again conveyed by William H. Drew to Roxans, wife of Daniel Drew, in fee, on the 7th day of January, 1874. This deed also was recorded last Saturday.
